What to Consider when Choosing an Internship . . .

The following questions will help you narrow your internship search:

- What is my primary learning objective? What do I want to take away from this internship?

- Will there be opportunities to build relationships and network with professionals, both in and out of the office?

- What skills will I be able to focus on developing?

- If I am seeking credit for this internship, does the internship meet department standards?

- Is there potential to be hired full-time? Could I see myself working here in the future?

- How much time can I dedicate to being at the internship?

- Will I be paid? How much? If not, what other benefits does the company offer?

- Will I need to temporarily relocate?

- Will I need to travel for the internship? Are those costs covered by the company?

- Other thoughts . . .