3. Developmental Stage and Trauma Research Paper (30%)
4. Happiness Project Discussion Board (20%)

Content delivery:
D2L online course format, discussion posts, electronic communication

Assignment #1: Bandura D2L Discussion

Students will study Bandura’s theory via the course text and other sources (journal articles, online resources, videos, films, etc.). You will cite these sources (using APA writing style) when you post to the D2L discussion board (see number of required citations below).

Bandura’s theory proposes that we learn social behaviors and personal values by observation. According to Bandura, we learn behaviors, ideas, beliefs, life values and attitudes by watching other people via personal life experiences, electronic means and audio/visual media. In particular, the media has a huge impact on what we learn about life, relationships, jobs, money, values, lifestyles, etc., and how we integrate information we receive from the media within our own identity development.

The following assignment encourages students to study Bandura’s theory in the context of self-exploration and “test” the theory based on student’s reflections about their own development:

- Students will select from their own media viewing OR from their own community of family, social network, animals, spiritual practices, and apply Bandura’s theory in their own self-examination of their identity development. Students should reflect on their most common and repetitive experiences with social media OR community (Facebook, Internet sites on hobbies, parenting, etc.) and dramatic arts media (TV, movies, etc.). For example, if you watch a lot of Jon Stewart on Comedy Central and you notice your political views are of a “left-wing” nature, you might surmise that watching this program impacts and reinforces how you see the world of politics. For example, if you watch the History Channel and notice that you value perceiving your experiences in the context of a particular time in history, you might suppose that viewing programs about historical events provides for you a way to look at your own experiences in the context of world or current events. For example, if you grew up in a tribal community and learned about behavior from watching animals, you will have learned values modeled from those animals and apply them to your own life.
- Students should include comments in their posts regarding their agreement/non-agreement with Bandura based on their own research and self-examination. Since this assignment involves self-examination of a personal nature, students are encouraged to share only what they feel comfortable sharing with classmates via the D2L Discussion board.

Please develop your Initial Post to focus on the assignment criteria (outlined above) in at least two well-developed paragraphs of at least 100 words, and develop your Response Post with relevant comments contained in at least one well-developed paragraph of at least 50 words.

Total Required number of posts is three (3) Initial Posts and three (3) response posts

Due Dates:
Bandura Post #1: Sept 15 (Initial Post) and Sept 18 (Response Post)

Bandura Post #2: Oct 6 (Initial Post) and Oct 9 (Response Post)
Bandura Post #3: Oct 27 (Initial Post) and Oct 30 (Response Post)

Assignment #2: D2L Chapter Assignments

Seventeen (17) mini-discussions are required for this assignment: one discussion for each chapter. Students will respond to each question with a scholarly and well-developed answer. Providing citations in text and references to your resources is required. Adherence to APA style is required. Additional personal reactions and opinions are welcome. Response posts are also welcome, but optional.

Students may work their way through the mini-discussions at their own pace. All work should be completed by Nov 24, 2014.

Assignment #3: Developmental Stage and Trauma Research Paper

Current researchers of human development are learning that trauma plays a much more important role than thought previously in terms of healthy identity development and coping skills. In fact, much of the DSM 5th edition revisions include considerations about the link between traumatic experiences and the development of psychological disorders, symptoms and associated life issues.

This assignment will provide an opportunity to study Erikson’s developmental theory and explore the potential impact of trauma on psychosocial development at a specific stage of development. Students should complete an APA (6th ed) style paper on your choice of one of Erikson’s Psychosocial developmental stages (Trust vs Mistrust, Autonomy vs Shame and Doubt, Initiative vs Guilt, Industry vs Inferiority, Identity vs Role Confusion, Intimacy vs Isolation, Generativity vs Stagnation, Integrity vs Despair) and the potential effects of a selected traumatic experience on healthy development (e.g. death of a loved one, early sexual abuse, natural disaster, loss of a loved one at an early age). Students must study Erikson’s theory in at least 5 (five) scholarly resources (including the course text) and do extensive research on their chosen topic of a traumatic experience in at least 5 (five) scholarly sources. Discussion about the impact of said trauma on the development of someone in the chosen stage of development will be written from the student’s ideas and beliefs as a result of a thorough review of professional literature. Note: this is not an assignment for personal disclosure about student’s personal experiences. The chosen topic of a traumatic experience should be based on students’ future work with clients/students.

Due: Nov 3
Assignment #4: Happiness Project Discussion Board

This assignment is designed to help you study the topic of “happiness” and review the research conducted by Rubin (2009). D2L Discussion posts should focus on comments about Rubins findings and experiences as they relate to a developmental theory (Erikson or Piaget) studied in this course. Students can either select a specific developmental stage to discuss for all posts, or select a different developmental stage for each post. Additionally, students should select to focus their post comments on two concepts or ideas (per post) discussed within the designated chapters as they related to a selected developmental stage.

Please develop your initial post to focus on the assignment criteria (outlined in the paragraph above) in at least two well-developed paragraphs of at least 100 words, and respond to others’ posts with relevant comments contained in at least one well-developed paragraph of at least 50 words.

This discussion will take place from January 27 to March 20 in the structure of three time slots, each devoted to a particular part of Rubin’s book. You MUST post your initial post by “Initial Post” due date and respond to a minimum of one (1) comment made by classmates by the “Response Post” due date for each discussion.

Inclusive Excellence

Commitment to Inclusive Excellence: WSU recognizes that our individual differences can deepen our understanding of one another and the world around us, rather than divide us. In this class, people of all ethnicities, genders and gender identities, religions, ages, sexual orientations, disabilities, socioeconomic backgrounds, regions, and nationalities are strongly encouraged to share their rich array of perspectives and experiences. If you feel your differences may in some way isolate you from WSU’s community or if you have a need of any specific accommodations, please speak with the instructor early in the semester about your concerns and what we can do together to help you become an active and engaged member of our class and community.

- Advising Services – Warrior Success Center, Maxwell 314, 457-5878 (www.winona.edu/advising/)

Two good places to help you find resources of all kinds on campus are Student Support Services and the Inclusion and Diversity Office. Both offices are dedicated to helping students of all races, ethnicities, economic backgrounds, nationalities, and sexual orientations. They can facilitate tutoring and point you to a wide range of resources.

- If you have a disability, the Access Services office can document it for your professors and facilitate accommodations. If you have a documented disability that requires accommodation, please let me know as soon as possible. If you suspect you may have a disability, please visit Access Services as soon as possible.

- College can be very stressful. The Counseling and Wellness Services office is here to help you with a wide range of difficulties, ranging from sexual assault, depression, and grief after the loss of a loved one to stress management, anxiety, general adjustment to college, and many others.

- For help with understanding the concepts of a particular class or understanding the requirements of an assignment, Tutoring Services offers three types of tutoring: drop-in appointments, 1-on-1 tutoring, and group sessions. You can visit them in the Library (220) or go on-line and use TutorTrac to schedule a session.
  - For help specifically with writing and the development of papers, the English department has a Writing Center that is staffed by trained graduate students pursuing their Master’s degree in English. The Writing Center is located in Minné Hall 348. You can make an appointment on the sign-up sheet on the door or call 457-5505.
  - For help specifically with understanding math concepts and solving math problems, the Math Achievement Center (MAC) is staffed with friendly undergraduate tutors who will help you work through difficult material. The MAC is located in Tau 313 and provides free tutoring for all students in math, statistics, or math education courses. The center is open Mon-Fri, and Sunday evening.

- The GLBTA Advocate can direct people to GLBT resources on and off campus. In addition, the advocate is responsible for documenting homophobic and transphobic incidents on campus and working with the appropriate channels to get these incidents resolved.
