Fun Facts:

- When they walk, tigers often place their hind feet in the tracks of their forefeet.
- Trumpeter swans use their two eyes independently.
- Experts say that pound for pound, leopards are the strongest of all cats. An Amur leopard can lift a 150- pound deer in its jaws to a branch 15 feet in the air.
- More Americans die each year from bee stings (50 to 100) than from bears (about one every other year). When bears do attack people, it's usually out of defense and territoriality.
- Every dolphin has a unique "signature whistle" used to remain in contact and help identify themselves to others.
